

NEWMAN
CATHOLIC COLLEGE

SMITHFIELD

Code of Behaviour

Behaving in a Way that Reflects our Values

Code of Behaviour v1.0 April 2021

CODE OF BEHAVIOUR

Behaving in a Way that Reflects Our Values

College Values:

Truth, Wisdom, Courage, Humility, Compassion

As a Catholic College centred on the person of Jesus Christ, every individual at Newman Catholic College has value and a right to be treated with respect. This Code of Behaviour is designed to help all involved in this community to fulfil their responsibilities to each other and to promote an environment which provides the maximum opportunity for all to experience success and develop to their fullest potential, as we see through the life of our Patron, Saint John Henry Newman. Consistency between home and school is everything. We desire to provide education regardless of socio-economic background to those who genuinely seek a learning environment based on our values and a genuine willingness to accept the whole educative process including this Code of Behaviour. Behaving in a way that reflects our values can only promote full and lasting benefits to all in the community.

Treating Ourselves with Respect

Each student is encouraged to maintain a healthy self-respect. No student may behave in a manner that diminishes or endangers themselves.

This will be achieved through:

- Wearing correct uniform with pride;
- Using appropriate language and actions;
- Working to the best of your ability and accepting responsibility for your learning;
- Being concerned for your health and wellbeing, avoiding drugs, alcohol, tobacco, and other illicit substances; and,
- Taking responsibility for your own actions/choices.

Treating Others with Respect

Each student is expected to support fellow members of the Newman Community. Behaviour that diminishes, or endangers fellow students, staff or members of the community is unacceptable.

This will be achieved through:

- Showing courtesy and respecting the rights of others;
- Representing my College appropriately at all times, including when in transit to and from the College, participating in community events, and whenever representing the College;
- Respecting other people's need to socialise without being harassed or hurt and providing an environment which is free of discrimination and harassment;
- Abiding by the expectations of the College;
- Never acting in a way that may cause emotional or physical harm to another person and acknowledging that I have a responsibility to inform a staff member of any potential threat or danger to the health and safety of others;
- Actively promoting the College values of: Courage, Compassion; Humility; Truth; and, Wisdom;
- Being aware of visitors, new staff and students by making them feel welcome and supported;
- Engaging fully in College assemblies and Liturgies; listening quietly to the person speaking, participating enthusiastically in singing, and clapping generously, as appropriate;
- Developing right relationships that emulate respect for each individual within the community; and,
- Following reasonable and clearly communicated instructions.

Treating the Wider Community with Respect

Each student is expected to always support the wider Newman Community. Behaviour that compromises the health, safety or reputation of the College and members of the Wider Community is unacceptable.

This will be achieved through:

- Using appropriate language;
- Working in partnership with wider community groups and James Cook University;
- Behaving well in the public arena; and,
- Avoiding excessively boisterous, rude, or reckless behaviour.

Treating all Property and the Environment with Respect

Each student is expected to care for the Environment and all Property.

This will be achieved through:

- Respecting and caring responsibly for your own property;
- Respecting other peoples' belongings and using other students' property only with permission;
- Caring for equipment, furniture and resources;
- Reporting any damage;
- Showing pride in and caring for the school and university grounds and gardens; and,
- Keeping classrooms, buildings, and grounds tidy and clean.

Treating the Learning Process with Respect

Each student is expected to support the learning and teaching process at Newman. No student may behave in such a way as to compromise the process.

This will be achieved through:

- Working towards one's own learning goals;
- Not compromising the educational rights of others;
- Supporting staff in maintaining good order in classrooms and during activities;
- Arriving to class prepared, on time and ready to work;
- Meeting all co-curricular commitments; and,
- Making the most of educational opportunities by completing all set work.

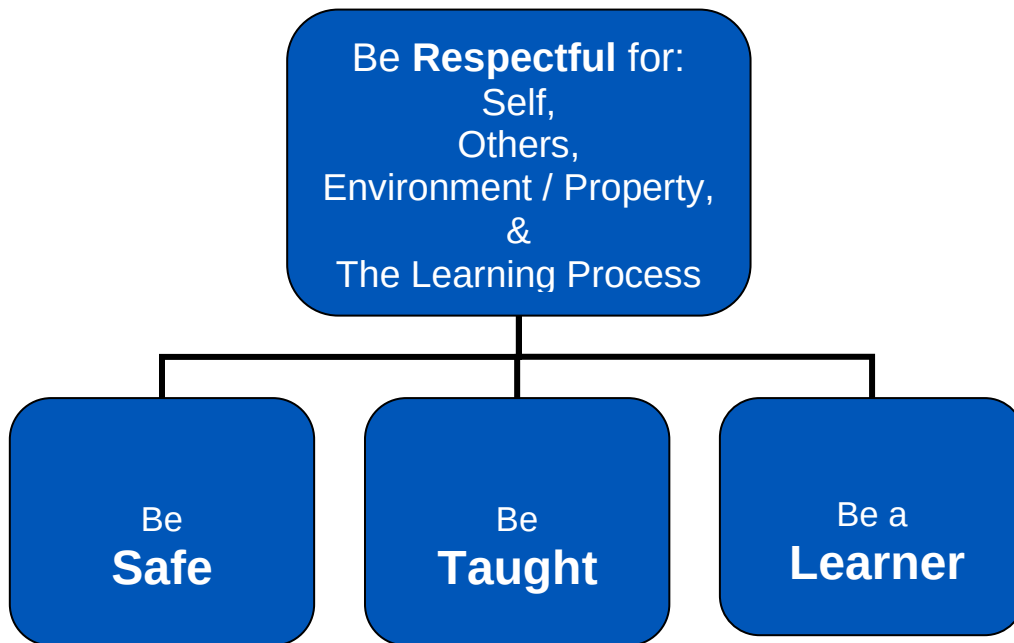

Newman Catholic College Staff will support students to engage in the learning process.

Staff will:

- Know their students and how they learn;
- Reflect on practice and constantly review and focus on teaching and learning;
- Expect and value an excellent standard of learning achievement;
- Create a culture which supports and rewards students for their achievements;
- Demonstrate a commitment to continuous professional learning;
- Inspire and lead by example;
- Celebrate excellent learning and teaching outcomes achieved by Colleagues;
- Ensure co-curricular activities are well resourced with an expectation of doing the best we can and with appropriate accountabilities;
- Give families the opportunity to interact in their child's learning and development; and,
- Provide ongoing feedback to students and families as an integral part of the learning process.

Newman's Expectations

Our College community has identified the following expectations to teach and promote high standards of responsible behaviour.

At Newman Catholic College our expectations have been agreed upon and endorsed by all within our Learning Community. They are aligned with the values of our College.

May God bless you with a heart fired by love willing to do Him some definite service.